

Glorious Swirl

Music and lyrics by J.P. Kwok

The splendor of the heavens and earth
Proclaiming the majestic Creator
Far above their beauty and worth
The Son stepped down to serve as a savior

Nothing here can take His place
No marvel, nor adventure, or splendor
No amount of striving attains
What was bought through the blood of the Savior

Oh, the deep, deep waters of His love
Spanned the mortal fathom from heaven above
There is no chasm that hasn't been crossed
The swirling blood of Jesus paid the cost.

Covered in the glorious swirl
Grace from an infinite quarry
The chrysalis of death is unfurled
Now wrapped in the garments of glory

His death paid the price
For rebellion and strife
In His pow'r, He took back His life
Through faith, we rest at His side
